

J Scott Christianson
Professional Development and Accomplishments.
Jan 2007-Dec 2013
(While Adjunct Faculty)

Courses Taught and Developed.

Winter 2007

- Management 4620: Web Development Fundamentals (Redesign and Development).

Fall 2007

- Professional Seminar 1001-016: Men in Business, Freshman Interest Group.

Winter 2008.

- Management 4620: Web Development Fundamentals.

Fall 2008

- Professional Seminar 1001-016: Men in Business, Freshman Interest Group.
- Management 4620: Web Development Fundamentals.
- Management 8510: MBA Project Management (Designed the course).

Spring 2009

- Management 4620: Web Development Fundamentals.
- Management 4060: Project Management (Redesign and Development).

Fall 2009

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Spring 2010

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Fall 2010

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Spring 2011

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Fall 2011

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.
- Management 7410: MBA Management Information Systems (Redesign and Development).

Spring 2012

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.
- Management 7410: MBA Management Information Systems.

Summer 2012

- Business Administration 4500: PDP Internship
- Management 8085: Problems in Management. (Individual Study)

Fall 2012

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Spring 2013

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.

Summer 2013

- Business Administration 4500: PDP Internship

Fall 2013

- Management 8510: MBA Project Management.
- Management 7410: MBA Management Information Systems.

The courses taught in this time span total 34.5 credit hours of instruction for which I was paid as an adjunct instructor. This does not count:

- Two Freshmen Interest Groups for which I was given $250 of professional development money ($500 total).
- Two Business Administration 4500: PDP Internship classes for which I was paid from the PDP program.
- One Management 8085: Problems in Management course, for which I was not compensated financially. The course involved helping a student complete her PMI Project Management Professional (PMP) certification.

Professional Development

- Teaching Orientation Workshop, Trulaske College of Business, Fall 2008.

Guest Speaker/Panelist

- PDP Presenter, "Getting Things Done," September, 2013, October, 2013. .

Course and Student Highlights

MGMT 4620

- As a final project, three students (Casey Williamson, Amanda Cleaver and Bryan Hefti) developed a web site for the Greenbelt Land Trust of Mid-Missouri (<http://greenbeltlandtrust.org/>) (2008). These students received service learning credit for the course.
- As a final project, three students (Robert Silvey, Felicia Aretha, Alexander Khatskin) update a web site for the Ellis Fischel Cancer Hospital. (2008). These students received service learning credit for the course.
- Guest Speaker Sam Selby, Systems Analyst and Webmaster for the City of Columbia, shared his advice and experience about managing the city's web site during a period of high growth. (2007)
- Guest Speaker J. Michael Roach from IDP Group (now with Caledon Virtual), shared information about his work and web development business with the class (2008)

MGMT 7410

- Guest Speaker Tom Jerzak joined our class via videoconference to talk with the class about videoconferencing technology, sales channels and the sales processes.